Thomas Group Announces Appointment of Practice Leaders

IRVING, TEXAS — May 2, 2008 — Thomas Group, Inc. (NasdaqGM:TGIS), a global consulting firm, announced today the appointment of six practice leaders as part of the transformation of its consulting business. The Company is refocusing and repositioning its current services, and building a premier global consulting organization to provide strategic and operational advice to its clients and target markets. Thomas Group will focus on market leading issues and address client needs in six practice areas: Aerospace and Defense, Air Force, Army / Navy, Healthcare, Industrial, and Transportation and Logistics.

“Each new member of the team brings strong consulting practice-building skills, entrepreneurial capabilities and deep industry knowledge to the practice they lead,” said Earle Steinberg, President and CEO of Thomas Group. “Thomas Group is well positioned to become the premier global provider of operational consulting services to its select industries.”

The new practice leadership team members are:

Aerospace and Defense

Mark Ozenick is responsible for leading the Company’s efforts in developing and providing client solutions for Thomas Group clientele in the Aerospace and Defense and Private Equity markets. Ozenick is an accomplished senior executive and leader possessing a diverse and multi-disciplined background in general management, operations, sales and marketing. His experience spans 30 years in start-up, existing enterprise, pre & post merger/acquisition and turnaround operations in the business aviation flight services and aerospace manufacturing sectors.

Air Force

Thad Wolfe, Lieutenant General, USAF (ret), is the Practice Leader for the United States Air Force. He leverages Thomas Group’s knowledge and experience on a global basis for managing all USAF-related business development, support, and service delivery. Wolfe spent 31 years in the US Air Force serving in operational command and staff positions including assignments as Squadron and Wing Commander, Strategic Warfare Center Commander, and the Deputy Director responsible for National Strategic Target List development on the Joint Strategic Targeting Planning Staff. He was the senior military officer in the Operations Directorate at the National Security Agency and Vice Commander of the Air Combat Command where he completed active duty service as a Lieutenant General.

Army / Navy

Tom Zych has twelve years of combined implementation, program, and practice management experience with Thomas Group. He manages successful multi-million dollar projects spanning a wide range of operational and industry platforms, including U.S. Department of Defense, General Motors, Robert Bosch, Meritor Heavy Vehicle Systems, and Cyprus Amax Minerals. His expertise in operations management provides clients with solutions that add measurable value to their businesses, and that create a sustainable business advantage.
